

Surrey County Council Election Special

Richard Walsh - your local Conservative Candidate

Richard has served the residents of Shepperton, Laleham and Charlton Village for many years, firstly as a Spelthorne Borough Councillor and now as your County Councillor for the last eight years.

A local family man he came to Shepperton in 1981 where his children attended the local schools and he started his own business. He has been heavily involved in local organisations and helps and supports them whenever possible.

Richard has a thorough knowledge of pressures within the area including gravel extraction, HGV traffic, flooding and parking and is doing all he can to limit or remove these problems.

Richard said "I am very aware that we must continue to improve our roads and pavements and repair road drainage, as well as ensuring that pot holes are dealt with as quickly as possible.

I will continue to work closely with Borough Councillors, Surrey Police, youth services and local organisations to eradicate the pockets of antisocial behaviour that blight hard working and law-abiding communities."

He is keen to keep Shepperton the sixth happiest place in England by keeping facilities like the library, youth and Children's centres and support the Shepperton and Laleham Fairs and Big Tree Night.
